Those Who Hurry, Waste Their Time

1999 | Vienna, Austria
approx. 200 x 200 cm polyester, gear wheels, motion detector, tubes, scrap, computer display a clock with a copy of my body as hands ... it stands still and on screen a heart is beating ... if somebody gets closer to the clock, the hands start to rotate ... it ticks ... on screen slogans start to appear in a fast sequence ... no time ... pressure ... no pressure ... time ... the ticking speeds up ... hurry up ... work harder ... come on ... stop dreaming ... between these lines the spectator sees himself on screen ... he became part of the machinery.
